

Graduate School

Practical, flexible, and affordable. The graduate programs of Viterbo University were created specifically for the working professional. Some programs offer face-to-face evening and weekend coursework, others are blended online with classroom learning on-campus or at an approved Viterbo location, and some programs are fully or predominately online with small campus residency components. Regardless of the format, the graduate programs of Viterbo strive to offer you the connections and interactions you are seeking in a graduate program.
